Battleaxe PRO®

Professional Crack & Crevice Aerosol

BattleaxePRO® Aerosol is an essential part of every Professional Pest Manager's toolkit.

BattleaxePRO® Aerosol, tried and tested

BattleaxePRO® Aerosol (previously known in Australia as Bayer Blattanex Aerosol) has a number of advantages over conventionally packaged insecticides and aerosols. These include efficiency, convenience, and less waste with no need to dilute ingredients. This is the superior product-of-choice for pest management professionals.

Ideal for detection

Cockroach infestations are not always obvious during the day, and BattleaxePRO® with its long extension tube is ideal for detecting and flushing out infestations.

Crack and Crevice

BattleaxePRO® gives long residual action and allows the operator to treat surfaces within cracks and crevices where significant contact with the insects is more likely to occur.

BattleaxePRO® Aerosol Features

- Flushing action
- Fast knockdown
- Residual activity
- Penetrating vapour action
- Flexible nozzle extension for crack and crevice treatment
- AerOsol also operates even upside down
- Convenient to use in difficult areas

Packaging:

- 420 g aerosol

Active Constituent:

- 20 g/kg propoxur
- 2 g/kg tetramethrin
- 10 g/kg piperonyl butoxide

Indications:

Especially effective for the detection and control of cockroaches and European wasps.

Toxicology

BattleaxePRO® Aerosol is placed in Schedule 5 of the Poisons Schedule and carries a CAUTION label. The active ingredients are rapidly metabolised and excreted from mammalian systems and cholinesterase levels rapidly return to normal.
